To Whom It May Concern:

In August 2008 US Congress and the CPSC passed the Consumer Product Safety Improvement Act of 2008 and in doing so introduced several provisions to the current safety policy in the consumer products industry. Among the newly adopted requirements of the CPSIA are the requirements for Certificates of Conformity that are to be issued by Manufacturers or Importers of children's products.

Safety of our product is extremely important to us here at Ready 4 Kits. Although our products are not intended for use by children under 12 years of age we have implemented procedural changes to address the changes in the Consumer Product Safety guidelines in order to best serve our customers and maintain compliance throughout our line. In an effort to comply with the CPSC requirements for the classification of children's products Ready 4 Kits has added the following information to the informational sections of both our catalog, and our website:

"Ready 4 Kits products are classified by the CPSIA as a "general use product" which is designed specifically for business and promotional purposes. Our kits are designed for use by adults and are promoted as such. Ready 4 Kits products are not intended to be marketed to, distributed to, or intended for use of children 12 years of age or younger."

Please contact our safety and compliance department with any specific questions that you may have regarding the policies and procedures mentioned above at safety@ready4kits.com .

Sincerely,
